BACKGROUND:

House Bill 3308 sets up a system to allow the Oregon Liquor and Cannabis Commission to issue a delivery permit to an individual to deliver alcoholic beverages on behalf of a business that holds a license, permit or is an agent with the authority to deliver to the final consumer at a delivery address. The applicant must be 18 years old, submit a form, pay a fee less than $50, and provide any other requested information. The commission may refuse to issue a permit if the individual provides false or misleading information, does not have a good record of compliance, has been convicted of any alcohol law, or has not completed a delivery educational program.

The commission will create a delivery education program that will include forms of identification and methods for identifying, inspecting, accepting or rejecting identification.

A third-party delivery facilitator must be registered with the Oregon liquor and cannabis commission.

Prohibits delivery without proper permit. Prohibits person not registered as third-party delivery facilitator from acting as third-party delivery facilitator. The penalty can be up to 364 days imprisonment, a $6,250 fine, or both. The commission may impose a civil fine on a facilitator in violation.
