- Personal experiences regarding suicides in families and community
- Oregon State University Extension Service has already obtained seven federal grants for the helpline
- A total of $2 million is needed to fully fund the endowment
- $250,000 has been raised so far

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

No amendment.

BACKGROUND:

The AgriStress Helpline is a mental health hotline specifically for agricultural producers and workers and their particular health needs. It was created and is staffed by a partnership of nonprofits who provide care during the call and refer callers to resources in their community for follow-up care. The helpline is staffed 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and language services are available in over 160 languages. Six states currently have an AgriStress Helpline: Connecticut, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Texas, Virginia, and Wyoming.

Senate Bill 955 would appropriate $300,000 for establishing an endowment to fund an AgriStress Helpline in Oregon.
