BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Department of Emergency Management is tasked with maintaining and coordinating a statewide, multi-level system of services for emergency, disaster, and search and rescue communications. The Department administers the State 9-1-1 Program, awards grants to local governments for resilience and emergency management purposes, and houses both the Drought Council and the Oregon Seismic Safety Policy Advisory Commission.

The Oregon Disaster Response Fund, like the Oregon Department of Emergency management, was originally housed within the Oregon Military Department prior to the passage of House Bill 2927 (2021), which made ODEM a stand-alone agency and transferred control of the Fund to ODEM from the Oregon Military Department. House Bill 2854, with the -1 amendment, establishes two new accounts within the Fund, both intended to address unmet needs during and after state-declared emergencies. The first, The Oregon Public Assistance Grant Account, is intended to provide assistance to local governments and other public and private entities; the second, the Oregon Individual Assistance Grant Account, is intended to provide assistance to households and individuals.
