BACKGROUND:

Beginning in 1987, Congress enacted a series of laws to protect the rights of homeless students. Most recently, the education portion of the McKinney-Vento legislation was reauthorized by Title IX, Part A of the Every Student Succeeds Act in 2015. The federal government provides funding for services to homeless students under the McKinney-Vento Act, which requires states to distribute 75 percent of their annual McKinney-Vento allocation to local school districts in subgrants. In Oregon, the Student Success Act named homeless students as one of the target populations for reducing disparities.

Senate Bill 685 establishes a pilot grant program for seven districts to support homeless students and establishes a related reporting requirement.
