- Other states allowing domestic partnerships for partners of any sex

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

No amendment.

BACKGROUND:

Chapter 106 of Oregon’s statutes defines both marriage and domestic partnerships. The Oregon Family Fairness Act was adopted in 2007 and defined a domestic partnership to mean a civil contract entered into in person between two individuals of the same sex who are at least 18 years of age, who are otherwise capable, and at least one of whom is a resident of Oregon.

After the United States Supreme Court found that marriage equality was a fundamental right guaranteed to all couples based on the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution, couples of the same sex were entitled to marry to the same extent as couples of the opposite sex. In 2016, the Legislative Assembly adopted House Bill 4127, which established state policy that any privilege, immunity, right, benefit, or responsibility governed by law given to a person because of marriage to a person of the opposite sex applies with equal force to a person who is or was married to a person of the same sex. The measure also adopted gender neutral language in relation to marriage to harmonize Oregon statutes with current law.

House Bill 2032 expands the eligibility for domestic partnership under the Oregon Family Fairness Act to partners of any sex.
