On Behalf Of:
Committee: Senate Committee On Rules
Measure: HB2004

Dear Senator Taylor,

I'm writing today in support of HB2004 and to likewise urge your support for Ranked Choice Voting as well. I believe RCV is the one of the best solutions we have available to quickly and substantively address the endemic problem of money in politics by allowing people to choose from a much larger and more diverse set of candidates and platforms than previously allowed for. It's been well received by constituencies of both the right and left - offering a potential way through the bureaucracy and obstacles imposed by gerrymandering, dark money, and narrowly defined corruption, upheld at the highest levels of our judicial system. Representatives of both parties have and continue to benefit from the influence of money in politics at the public expense and, with threats of nuclear escalation, the ongoing ravages of climate change, record levels of wealth inequality, and two likely presidential nominees who are both deeply unpopular with the American people, there has never been as dire a need to bring an end to the cancerous effects of this corruption as there is today. For the sake of true representation by and for the people, so that no US citizen will be made, in essence, disenfranchised for the choice to vote their conscience, please support HB2004 when it comes to a vote this June 22nd, 2023. Thank you

Sincerely,
Julian George Bose
