I SUPPORT [HCR 11].

I am very Thank-full for India's Independence. We politely excused our fellow British friends too.

My association with my Indian-American friends was in the workplace. We feasted, told stories and sometimes (if not daily) laughed uncontrollably at Lunch time. I became an adopted 'Jat' as an unintended result. As an adopted 'Jat' I had a lot of fun with my non-Indian American friends calling them "Untouchables" as they passed the condiments and food my way. My Indian-American friends laughed heartily but, shook their heads from side-to-side saying I should refrain from calling anyone "Untouchable." Even when I said I was telling the truth..."These guys are 'Untouchables' they stink like pigs." Still, my Indian-American brothers and sisters, trying not to laugh, would counsel me to always be merciful and not call them "Untouchables."

We all had, the best-of the-best of times defining our workplace times together...Now we are aged, decrepit and scattered to the four corners of the Earth.

As an adopted "Jat" I celebrate India's Independence!

Where's the food?

David S. Wall
Mr. Oregon Concur...I never knew you were a "Jat".
