

Submitter: Michelle Loughran

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Behavioral Health and Health Care

Measure: HB2458

Conversion therapy is horrible and leaves deep psychological scars that can last decades. Acceptance from your family and community can mean the difference for queer children between life and death. Several studies have found that queer children who don't have parental acceptance report attempting suicide eight times more than queer children with supportive parents. Our children's' lives are on the line.