

Submitter: Jeremy Grogan
On Behalf Of: The Constitution of the United States of America
Committee: House Committee On Rules
Measure: HJR20
TO: The Legislature

Please listen to these words and look into your own heart as you hear what I am writing to you.

The only conclusion that a rational person could make about the motivation behind this sort of legislation is that it is clearly an attempt to gain a significant advantage in the election process and eventually secure a super majority electorate; this really should be called cheating.

If I wanted to create a voting pool that I know I could win here is what I would do: I would seek to establish legislation considering the following:

- * Voting age 30
- * only married men and women having bore at least 1 child together
- * only men registered with the selective service
- * registered tax-payer with receipts of taxes paid for more than 5 years.

These are actually pretty reasonable expectations and in my opinion, we ought to have these guidelines. However, that is my personal view and if the country followed that, I guarantee insane woke communist progressive democrats would never win an election ever again because my ideology would be baked right into the considerations of a voter. I would love this, but it would not be fair and arguably unconstitutional.

So, it is no surprise that the insane woke communist progressive democrats who are working to destroy the man-woman-child family would seek to build a voting pool out of the same people they are feeding critical race theory (CRT) and gender identity. No sane rational person believes CRT is a real thing nor does a sane rational person affirm the possibility of gender transformation, gender fluidity, or that gender is a feeling or a choice. I honestly don't even think the people who are pushing this stuff even believe it; I really do not think they care either way—because science and research do not back either of these insane ideological claims.

Here is what I do think: I think the insane woke communist progressive democrats are staging a slow bleeding destruction of America by passive-aggressively fueling both sides of an internal emotional civil war. I think what they really want to do is reduce the population, remove God from our nomenclature, and rebuild a Marxist utopian society where everyone lives together, where no one owns anything, and they want to live this way without God. As far as I can tell, they don't even deny it. There are plenty of books written that describe the plan plain as day.

This is clearly the only rational explanation for everything we see going on around us coming out of the left. We really shouldn't be giving them any credit for their positions because they don't even believe in their own position. They really can't believe their positions because they know their positions are indefensible. For the most part, they don't even try to defend their ideas. They just go after the character of the people who oppose them by calling them racist bigots and never ever answer reasonable arguments or critical lines of questioning.

P.S.

My pronouns are him, his, and he. Also, my preferred adjectives are handsome and smart. Please if you write back to me, I identify as handsome and smart, so you must refer to me as handsome and smart when addressing or referring to me in written correspondence, public forums, reference citations, and bibliography entries.

Kind regards,