

I am staunchly opposed to lane splitting. As a rider myself I can understand why it's appealing to motorcyclists, but it is an unsafe practice that I believe will do more harm than good for both those in cars and on bikes. Motorcycle riding in general is significantly more dangerous than driving in a car and I feel we should be discouraging it in general. While I understand this law would be centered around red lights I believe it will encourage motorcyclists to share lanes with cars while driving as well. I do not see any positive outcomes from this law and do not wish to see it pass. Thank you.
