

-- Sent from Alyssa Colwill to Senator Kathleen Taylor on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Alyssa Colwill
8030 SE 24th Ave
Portland, OR 97202

-- Sent from May Nicholson to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
May Nicholson
5914 N Borthwick Ave
Portland, OR 97217

-- Sent from Priya Kumar-Kaparaboyna to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Priya Kumar-Kaparaboyna
3181 SW Sam Jackson Park Rd
Portland, OR 97239

-- Sent from Emmah Finneman to Senator Cedric Hayden on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Emmah Finneman
795 Whitham Way
Harrisburg, OR 97446

-- Sent from Kim Aldridge to Senator James Manning on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Kim Aldridge
4425 Marcum Ln
Eugene, OR 97402

-- Sent from Ashli Soward to Senator Cedric Hayden on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Ashli Soward
824 Arrow Leaf Pl
Harrisburg, OR 97446

-- Sent from Stacey Torres to Senator Sara Gelser Blouin on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Stacey Torres
6077 SW Grand Oaks Dr
Corvallis, OR 97333

-- Sent from Kathleen Beardsworth to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Kathleen Beardsworth
1525 NE Going St
Portland, OR 97211

-- Sent from Amanda Wudtke to Senator Floyd Prozanski on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Amanda Wudtke
370 25th St
Springfield, OR 97477

-- Sent from Sarah Waller to Senator Sara Gelser Blouin on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Sarah Waller
2782 NW Orchard Heights Ave
Albany, OR 97321

-- Sent from Lisa Seehafer to Senator Cedric Hayden on Feb 24, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Lisa Seehafer
350 7th Pl
Harrisburg, OR 97446

-- Sent from Steven Sweely to Senator Cedric Hayden on Feb 25, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Steven Sweely
770 Arrow Leaf Pl
Harrisburg, OR 97446

-- Sent from Nancy Ziehl to Senator Kim Thatcher on Feb 25, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Nancy Ziehl
4962 Fillmore St N
Keizer, OR 97303

-- Sent from Irina Cassimatis to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 25, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Irina Cassimatis
8721 SW 47th Ave
Portland, OR 97219

-- Sent from Christopher Cassimatis to Senator Kate Lieber on Feb 25, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Christopher Cassimatis
8721 SW 47th Ave
Portland, OR 97219

-- Sent from Elizabeth Rubin to Senator Lew Frederick on Feb 25, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Elizabeth Rubin
2816 N Watts St
Portland, OR 97217

-- Sent from Vanessa Friedman to Senator Kayse Jama on Feb 25, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Vanessa Friedman
1127 SE 130th Ave
Portland, OR 97233

-- Sent from BK Crider to Senator Tim Knopp on Feb 25, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
BK Crider
1748 NW 1st St
Bend, OR 97701

-- Sent from Lauryn Gravelle to Senator Lynn Findley on Feb 25, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Lauryn Gravelle
1215 NW Upas Ave
Redmond, OR 97756

-- Sent from Mitchell Gravelle to Senator Lynn Findley on Feb 26, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Mitchell Gravelle
1215 NW Upas Ave
Redmond, OR 97756

-- Sent from Ashley Schwab to Senator Mark Meek on Feb 26, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Ashley Schwab
10781 SE 78th Ave
Milwaukie, OR 97222

-- Sent from Amber Tuller to Senator Kathleen Taylor on Feb 26, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Amber Tuller
3333 SE Cesar Estrada Chavez Blvd
Portland, OR 97202

-- Sent from Jamie Gentry to Senator Kim Thatcher on Feb 26, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Jamie Gentry
2326 Evergreen Ave NE
Salem, OR 97301

-- Sent from Meghan Wudtke to Senator Floyd Prozanski on Feb 26, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Meghan Wudtke
370 25th St
Springfield, OR 97477

-- Sent from Laurie Rogers to Senator James Manning on Feb 27, 2023 --

Dear [@legislatorTitle] [@legislatorLast],

As your constituent and as an Oregonian who cares deeply about those struggling to build their family in our state, I was thrilled to see that legislation has been introduced to expand access to family building services in Oregon. Senate Bill 491 will help the 1 in 8 Oregonians living with the disease of infertility and anyone in Oregon who faces barriers to building their family - and we hope that you will support this pro-family bill in the current Legislative Session. This latest push for equitable access to infertility treatment is a continuation of the progress made in the 2021 and 2022 Legislative Sessions.

It is well past time for Oregon to update its insurance laws to include coverage for infertility. This legislation will ensure vital healthcare access for patients with infertility and those diagnosed with cancer or other conditions that may cause infertility. I am hopeful that you will be a strong supporter of this family building bill when it comes before you in 2023. Can I count on your support?

And please urge your Senate colleagues to advance this bill now and ensure its pathway to law!

Thank you,
Laurie Rogers
3378 Marvin Dr
Eugene, OR 97404

