

Submitter: Kelly Milford

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Education

Measure: SB3

I would like to see financial literacy in high school curriculum because it is a practical skill set that is needed to be successful in life. We do a disservice to our kids by not setting them up for success in life by understanding how to take care of themselves financially. Financial education in high school will help our entire society because it will help all those that graduate make better financial decisions.