Measure: HB2918

Not only do I support continuing to fund these mobile health clinics, but I think that such support should be increased if the clinics prove to be effective and popular with the communities they are intended to serve. Providing better access to healthcare outside of hospital ERs has been shown to be a great idea both for achieving better health outcomes and saving public funds in the long term. And it is time for past injustices in health access to be redressed in this and other ways.
