

Submitter: Stephen Reynolds

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Natural Resources

Measure: SB85

Agriculture in this country is dominated by corporate latifundia. The family farm has been in steady decline since the end of the Second World War. A sorry share of the blame falls on government, federal and state. I am happy to live in a part of the country where family farms are still flourishing. I want to keep it that way. I want the state government to support them and not corporate land- and water-grabbers. Acre for acre they are more productive than vast monocultural tracts soaked in life-killing chemicals. Please pass this bill.