

Submitter: Matthew Coleman
On Behalf Of:
Committee: House Committee On Judiciary
Measure: HB3294

Dear Legislators,

As a native Oregonian, I have long been embarrassed by our collective racist history as a nation and a state. While we can't change the past, we can take measures to remove those vestiges of our racist history. Let's make it possible (and easier) for people to take action to remove the old 'redlining' language and the exclusion of others from ownership of our collective properties.

I fully support HB 3294 and encourage others to do so as well. We need to make ownership an opportunity for all and erase exclusive, racist language from our documents.

Thank you,

Matthew Coleman, resident of Oregon for 42 years.
