Measure: HB2006

There is no reason a teenager should be able to acquire a deadly weapon on a whim. If an 18, 19, or 20 year old isn't allowed by law to purchase alcohol for concern of their safety and responsibility with it, what sense does it make that they can purchase a lethal weapon that military persons must be trained to use before being allowed to carry and use it? There are other ways to protect oneself. Stop enabling troubled young adults to solve their problems with deadly consequence, actions they can't take back.
