Children can't consent.

They can't consent to sex, to get ears pierced, to go to war, but you want to allow them to permanently alter their bodies to make them feel better, and have everyone "accept them" as an altered state from how they were naturally born, when they couldn't accept themselves as they were born. There was nothing wrong with them beforehand, and you are playing god here.

"Gender affirming care" is equivalent to conversation therapy.

This is monstrous. I wholeheartedly object to this insane practice. It is anti human, inhumane, and will most likely destroy their ability to experience climax during sex and to possibly remove the ability to procreate.
