

Submitter: Tamara Schoen

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Judiciary

Measure: HB2005

Fire arms should be highly regulated due to their capacity to inflict death and destruction. That means they should always be able to be tracked and detected when being sold and if that isn't the case than it should be against the law to sell such a weapon. I don't believe that this law is harsh enough given the nature of the crime but it's a start.