Hi, my name (currently) is Tim. I've been working through understanding my own gender expression and where I fit in the world. It frightens me to see how other states are restricting access to reproductive healthcare and gender affirming care. I want to feel empowered to be myself and be an example to others showing that being authentic and genuine can be both joyous and a better way to connect deeper with one another. I believe in the woman's right to choose and expanding gender affirming care.
