Rank choice voting allows the voter the opportunity to have a stronger voice in the selection process for candidates seeking public office. As a result of ranked choice voting, the selected candidate represents the choice of a larger portion of the voting public. Under rank choice voting, successful competitors will be beholden to a much larger and varied constituency. In the system we use now, the voter's choice is far too limited in many cases. Let's try a new way...RANK CHOICE VOTING.
