Measure: HB2006

The number cause of death in the United States for children is guns, WOW. We can either choose to do something about it ,like making them harder for people wh0 do not have fully developed brains (that happens around the age of 23), and struggle with impulse decisions more guns (no doubt more death) or we can apply common sense, real statistics and empathy to this growing, deadly problem. I am sickened by the amount of trauma and death our society has accepted to heap upon this next generation because of some abstract perversion of the 2nd amendment. People that do not support this bill, are simply voting for more death and destruction, it's that plain to see.
