

Dear Rep. Kropf and Governor Kotek,

My name is Jill Phipps, and I am a parent and an educator. I am a constituent from Portland, Oregon.

I'm writing because over 60% of Oregon 3rd graders aren't reading at grade level - even though research shows that 95% of kids can learn to read, given explicit, structured instruction. I'm concerned that, as currently written, HB3198 and HB3454 leave it up to individual districts to choose whether to apply for literacy funding that addresses our reading crisis. What happens to kids who live in districts that choose not to apply?

As an Educational Specialist, I tutor students who have learning differences. I am especially concerned that:

- The bills prioritize district choice over student needs. In 2022, our Secretary of State's office warned that the Oregon Department of Education's failure to intervene to help students and safeguard taxpayer investments is a more significant problem than an infringement on local control.
- Oregon needs to pay attention to best practices from other states where the states have taken direct responsibility for literacy and have seen impressive, sustained gains in reading.

HB3198 and HB3454 could be reasonable first steps toward addressing our crisis, but they should be amended to ensure our students get what they need. Therefore, I'm asking you to consider the following changes:

- Center students who struggle the most with reading. Instead of a voluntary grant application process for districts, funds, and resources should be specifically and explicitly dedicated to schools with the highest numbers of struggling readers, administered and directed by the Oregon Department of Education.
- Ensure the instruction and tools children need to succeed are grounded in scientifically based research about reading. An example of guard rails could be a Governor-appointed task force that vets specific assessments, curricula, teacher training, and other resources.
- Prioritize tutoring and teacher training. Intensive, high-dosage tutoring helps struggling readers immediately, while teacher training is a long-term investment in our educators as professionals that pays dividends for generations. Therefore, both should be prioritized in funding, vetted by the above task force, and coordinated by the Oregon Department of Education.

Sincerely,
Jill Phipps
