Measure: HB3390

This bill is a solution looking for a problem; if you are opposed to fur trapping or the selling of fur products the answer is simple: don't trap, and don't buy fur products. There is no need to force your opinions on others through lawmaking when you can simply choose to exercise free will (and allow others to do the same). Trapping is heavily regulated and sustainable, and is considered to be an effective wildlife management tool by the vast majority of trained wildlife biologists in this state. Follow the science, and reject this bill.
