Measure: HB2996

There is so much information and training that goes into being a DA in order to uphold a proper standard of care. I do not support pulling someone in with zero experience and no need to take written tests in order to assure the dental team and patient what the DA knows what they are doing, and how to best keep a patient safe in the chair. I'm writing this both as a DA student, and as a dental patient. I would not want someone as a patient as well to have not received some kind of formal training before working on me.
