

Submitter: John Oswald
On Behalf Of:
Committee: Senate Committee On Rules
Measure: SJR33

I strongly OPPOSE SJR 33.

Progression is not always progress. Progress (change) is not always good. Sometimes conservation of good ideas, and principles upon which our state and nation were founded, is life-giving and healthy. This is one of those cases where conservation is infinitely better than "progress." The Oregon Constitution, like the US Constitution, is amendable. But it was never meant to be an ever-changing amoeba, conforming to every special interest cry for "equality" and the ever-growing demand for license to murder babies and enjoy the same benefits as married couples (using the age-old definition of marriage understood by every culture throughout all of human history). I am not opposed to same-sex anything. But legislating (condoning) murder of unborn humans and codifying "equal rights" to same-sex couples, basically redefining the age-old covenant of marriage, is not progress. It is hedonism, and in the modern extreme, is blood lust. America (and Oregon) will crumble if allowed to conform to every whim of hedonism and multiplication of baby murder.

Vote No. Keep Oregon safe and sane for all.