

In the last few years, I've watched as our city has been so completely degraded by policies like this that only a radical could continue down this path. Due to the public camping we already have in Oregon, we have seen residents flee the cities and the general atmosphere decay. Why would anyone continue to push for policies that are clearly against the best interests of the residents that live there? Among my large group of friends and family, very few have not mentioned wanting to leave this state because of policies like this. We have ruined our reputation and our wonderful state. For the love of God, please stop.

Adrian Toader

Oregon Resident