Portland was such a wonderful city. I now meet people who ask where I live and I am embarrassed as Portland is awful place to visit or live. I am a Blazer fan but will no longer go to games as I don't feel safe. I believe in helping people who are in a bad time in life but do not think we who are responsible and work hard should let people who do not try or care to better themselves live off of our work and support them. Portland can be saved but not by allowing anyone to set up camp/crappy housing/garbage everywhere and leaving it when done as trash. Opening up public land to anyone to live on it in whatever way they want and not be respectful will destroy Portland and it will not survive other than known as a demolished city. Please reconsider on the long term effects of this. Take a drive and look at the absolute mess in place now. Do you want it to balloon? I surely hope not. Please reconsider the effects this will have.

Thank you.
