People should be able to be left alone to define their gender in whichever way feels right for them. Others should not have the right to discriminate against individuals based on their gender identify. We need more tolerance and understanding, not fear and hurtful actions. This aught to be common decency, but unfortunately in today's society it appears necessary to enshrine into law.

Discrimination is wrong. Especially when somebody is discriminated against, based on something which is an inherent part of them. This amendment would ensure that includes gender identification.

I therefore support this amendment.
