Re: Support for HB 4140 to continue funding of ODSVS and SHF dollars.

On behalf of El Programa Hispano Catolico, we are pleased to submit testimony in support of HB 4140 for continued funding in the Department of Justice Crime Victim and Survivor Services Division Budget for the Oregon Domestic and Sexual Violence Services (ODSVS) Fund and Survivor Housing Fund (SHF). Both of these funding sources help provide stable services designed to meet critical needs for sexual assault and domestic violence survivors within our Latine communities in Oregon.

EPHC is a culturally specific social service nonprofit serving over 20,000 people per year. Our services aim to support Latine communities within Multnomah, Clackamas, and Washington counties to help address the social determinants of health that impact our communities. UNICA (Un Nuevo Inicio para Concluir el Abuso), our domestic and sexual violence department was created in direct response to needs identified by the Latine community. We have been providing services for survivors of domestic and sexual violence for over 30 years. Our 24/7 UNICA Crisis Line is the only 24-hour crisis line in the state to offer bilingual/ bicultural services for Latine survivors of domestic and sexual violence. Our comprehensive sexual and domestic violence services include crisis intervention, advocacy and case management, support groups, mental health services, housing support services, and primary prevention programming.

As Director for UNICA at El Programa Hispano, I am aware of the institutional challenges and barriers that survivors face when attempting to access services. As a Latine survivor of childhood sexual abuse and domestic violence, I am personally aware of the barriers faced by many Latine and immigrant survivors. Neither my mother nor I obtained the support we desperately needed during these difficult times due to lack of proper support systems, language barriers, lack of financial resources, fear of separation and deportation, or basic understanding of legal rights. Assistance outside of legal agencies or government offices, such as law enforcement or DHS, simply aren't accessible to many survivors within Latine and immigrant communities in a way that feels safe due to these barriers and concerns. Culturally Specific community based organizations like UNICA provide a safe space where Latine and immigrant communities can obtain culturally specific support and services, as well as fact based information about their legal rights so that they can make informed decisions about engaging with legal and government agencies that can assist with obtaining legal support and justice.

Not only are ODSVS and SHF essential funding, they are the only state general fund sources that allow Oregon's network of nonprofit, community-based, Tribal, and culturally-specific domestic and sexual violence service providers across the state to ensure that survivors have access to confidential, culturally-specific and trauma-informed support and assistance as they seek safety from abuse.

The Oregon Domestic and Sexual Violence Services Fund (ODSVS) distributes funds to more than 60 community-based, culturally specific, and Tribal programs across the state of Oregon to provide confidential trauma-informed services for victims and survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, dating violence, and human trafficking. These community-based nonprofits support children and adult survivors with wide-ranging crisis intervention and longterm supportive services such as emergency shelter, 24/7 crisis line, legal advocacy, emergency and long-term safety-planning, counseling, support groups and children's programs. These programs also provide prevention education in schools as well as training and education throughout the community. Community-based domestic and sexual violence programs intersect with many state systems, including the public health and public safety systems. These programs have built collaborations with law enforcement, healthcare providers, schools, the criminal justice system, social services agencies, and many other community partners, and offer critical support for survivors navigating these structures.

The Oregon Survivor Housing Funds (SHF) have been instrumental in supporting survivors and their families in finding safe and permanent housing in the midst of a statewide housing shortage, rise in rent costs, and current inflation. The SHF supports survivors by providing supportive services and the financial assistance resources necessary to address barriers in accessing housing. This may include moving assistance, application fees, security deposits, and other non-rent move-in costs. These critical and flexible funds help survivors begin this new stage in their lives on solid footing. For many survivors, like in the case of my mother, financial stability is dependent on their abuser. Programs like Survivor Housing Funds assist survivors and their children flee from violent homes by providing assistance in securing safe and stable housing while they do the difficult work of healing from their trauma while developing financial stability.

In closing, continued funding of ODSVS and SHF, will provide programs with the resources to further develop capacity and build a statewide infrastructure designed for sustainability and equity in meeting the needs of survivors. For the above reasons, we hope you will support HB 4140 and the ongoing investment of ODSVS and SHR in the CVSSD Budget. Full funding of these services is essential to support crime victims and survivors in Oregon and the organizations and providers who serve them. Thank you for your consideration and for the opportunity to testify.

Sincerely,

Perla Estrada, LCSW, MBA Director of UNICA El Programa Hispano Católico
