

I Fully support this bill. Schools and libraries are meant to be ever evolving. Those entities meant to serve communities need to serve all members of the community. Whitewashing history serves nobody. Today's social media generation will find information through avenues not accredited. Wouldn't it be better for future generations, and humanity as a whole, if future generations were taught the truth by adults they trusted? By teachers and librarians that were educated with the most up to date textbooks and library resources that don't aim to shame, belittle or ignore marginalized groups. Inadvertently teaching racism, bigotry, homophobia, ableism and/or misogyny is unacceptable. We have to ask ourselves what scares Americans so very much that we don't want the truth of our past or the chaos of today to be recognized.
