I strongly oppose this measure. Oregon already pays ridiculously high property taxes and we should not be forced to carry even more burden because the majority of the politicians in this state can't learn to balance a budget. So many can hardly afford their homes, how will this help to address that? It won't. You'll force more people to leave their homes and potentially the state. The state has no business in instituting a state wide property tax. This needs to fail miserably and politicians learn to work within your budget! No more taxes!
