The state has done a dismal job managing the funds they hold now. What makes them believe they can oversee additional funds to be distributed as they see fit. The state is in a mess with no end in sight except they want to throw more money at homelessness, drug addiction, and NO thought to law enforcement. They work to make life miserable for businesses of all sizes and hide and fast shuffle legislation. Transparency is not a word they know the meaning of at this point. Enlarging government without people to oversee and regular audits performed doesn't seem to be a good thing for the taxpayers who pay the bills. Legislators need to work together to save Oregon from turning into a total welfare state. Common sense should prevail before pushing thru legislation brought before them to vote on and DO NOT hurry and vote without looking at what could result in their hasty decisions.
