Measure: HJR201

We are opposed to this measure. Rural Oregonians, for the most part, are low income and struggling financially. Our community is majority retired on fixed incomes. This creates more undue burden on property owners, as well as renters. Continued increased costs to landlords, at some point, must be passed on to tenants. Renters are typically the poorest among us and struggle financially to provide the bare necessities. Adding yet another tax would create undue hardship. In our rural community cost of living is high and wages and opportunities are low. Please vote no to proceed with this measure.
