

Submitter: Paula Vetter

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Rules

Measure: HJR201

Property taxes should be left to local and county governments to figure out and apply as fitting to their residents. We already pay high taxes here in Oregon. I live in a rural area I don't feel like I should pay more taxes to solve big city problems. Before any new taxes are considered, government MUST find where it can reduce spending, just as the residents must do each time our taxes are raised. Already too many hard working people are having to decide whether to fill their prescriptions or feed their children.