One of the beauties of Oregon law for many a year has been free access to our beaches. That should not change!

Visiting the beach is healthy, restorative, life-enhancing.

I think it's ridiculous to separate walking on the trail TO the beach from walking ON the beach. It's all part of recreation.

I understand the lawyer coming up with that argument--anything to win the case for his client, right? I do NOT understand the judge finding in the plaintiff's argument.
