Measure: SB1583

The idea of banning books in the 21st century of recorded history since the creation of the printing press that allowed books to be made in 868 A.D. in Tang Dynasty, is utterly RIDICULOUS. Here in the United States of America, 'the land of the FREE and home of the BRAVE," we are witnessing the suppression of our rights to read what we will or not and of cowardice by those who would restrict that right due to their own intolerance, is UNACCEPTABLE. The fear and loathing that 'book banning,' screams, should never ever be supported by laws or regulations applied to our public libraries, public schools or other public institutions.

I fully support any legislation that would make unlawful banning any written materials or limiting the selection, thereof. I therefore support SB1583.
