Fiscal impact: May have fiscal impact, but no statement yet issued.

Revenue impact: May have revenue impact, but no statement yet issued.

Detailed Summary:

Defines actual cost as costs incurred by the Oregon State Fire Marshal (OSFM) in managing a fire. Authorizes OSFM to recover costs from a person who starts a fire, requiring OSFM to mail a written demand with a 90-day deadline for payment. Authorizes OSFM to charge interest at a rate of 10% per year if the respondent is noncompliant. Grants authority to OSFM to issue a general lien against the respondent's property if the actual cost of the fire constitutes such an action. Requires that a general lien notice from OSFM must be certified under oath and filed within 12 months after the fire occurred, and lists that the property may be foreclosed upon. Authorizes the Attorney General to assist in investigating liability, issue subpoenas and prosecute cases to recover costs. Authorizes Deputy State Fire Marshal, under instruction from the State Fire Marshal to secure scenes, restrict access and preserve evidence.

ISSUES DISCUSSED:

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

No amendment.

BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Department of Forestry (ODF) is required by law to investigate all wildfires on or near ODF-protected lands. Investigations focus on determining the wildfire's origin, cause, and identifying the responsible party. If a party is found liable, ODF can pursue cost recovery and prepare for litigation. ODF has authority to recover fire suppression costs following Oregon's accounting guidelines. Most investigation reports are done with the expectation of potential litigation due to the complexity and high costs involved. Currently, ODF does not conduct criminal investigations, but does collaborate with law enforcement when criminal activity is suspected.
