BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Racing Commission (Commission) consists of five members and is responsible for licensing, regulating, and supervising all race meets held in Oregon. The Commission is also required to have the various places where race meets are held to be visited and inspected at least one each fiscal year. A "race meet" is defined as any exhibition of animal racing where the mutual system is used in conjunction with any race. According to a 2023 report by the Oregon Audits Division of the Oregon Secretary of State, the Commission has broad authority over animal racing and wagering in Oregon, which includes live, simulcast, and historical races.

Senate Bill 856 provides an exception for persons acting in the course of carrying out their official auditing duties to the prohibition that no member, employee, or appointee of the Oregon Racing Commission (Commission), or the immediate family member of such a person, may bet or wager on any race meet held under the license and supervision of the commission if such a person acts in an official capacity in connection with that race meet.
