BACKGROUND:

The Outfitter and Guide Program was first established in 1984. The program focuses on registering outfitters and guides and requires liability protection for clients. The Oregon State Marine Board registers outfitters and guides annually to certify that they carry the minimum liability insurance required by law, that they have current First Aid and CPR training and, if required, have a USCG Operator License or Surety Bond. Outfitters and guides are issued an annual registration card that they are required to carry and show to anyone who asks. Under current law, Oregon imposes an annual registration fee of $150 for resident outfitters and guides. For non-residents, the registration fee is equivalent to the amount charged by the outfitter's home state. Currently, employees are not issued separate registration cards.
