BACKGROUND:

To be licensed as an acupuncturist in Oregon, an applicant must have graduated from an acupuncture program that satisfies the standards of the Accreditation Commission for Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine or an equivalent accreditation body or must show adequate clinical acupuncture practice in the United States for five of the last seven years, must have a current certification in acupuncture by the National Certification Commission for Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine, and must have English language proficiency (ORS 847-070-0005).

Acupuncturists are licensed by the Oregon Medical Board and regulated under ORS 677.757-770. ORS 667 refers to both acupuncture and “Oriental medicine” interchangeably but does not define “Oriental medicine.”

SB 874 defines “Oriental medicine” in ORS 677.010 to include the practice of acupuncture and traditional Chinese medicine as licensed by the Oregon Medical Board.
