-1 Clarifies qualification criteria for grant eligibility. Specifies that grant funding may be used for capital and operating expenses.

BACKGROUND:

Residential substance use disorder (SUD) treatment and withdrawal management programs are key components of the continuum of care that support individuals seeking treatment for an active SUD. While residential SUD treatment programs exist across Oregon, program capacity is limited and potential clients often face lengthy waiting lists before they can access needed treatment. This creates a challenge for individuals seeking treatment but is particularly critical for those who are unhoused or have unstable housing as these populations are more likely to be lost to follow up between the time they enter a waiting list and when a space opens within the program. One way to address this gap is by offering emergency housing programs which offer the potential to stabilize an individual seeking SUD treatment services while they await placement. Some emergency housing programs exist in Oregon, however these programs report challenges related to funding sustainability, as Medicaid funds cannot be used for individuals who are not actively enrolled in a treatment program.

House Bill 3146 directs the Oregon Health Authority to establish a pilot program to provide housing for individuals waiting for placement in a residential substance use disorder treatment program.
