BACKGROUND:

Coffee Creek Correctional Facility (CCCF), located in Wilsonville, is the state prison for female adults in custody (AICs). CCCF's cosmetology program, which according to the Oregon Department of Corrections (DOC) has capacity for 20 students, is provided in partnership with Portland Community College (PCC) and provides a pathway to cosmetology certification through the Oregon Health Licensing Office \(HLO\). CCCF also offers a master educator program, through which AICs who are licensed in cosmetology can become registered as instructors with the Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC).
