BACKGROUND:

ORS 418.200 to 418.202 establishes the Oregon Foster Child Bill of Rights and requires the Department of Human Services (DHS) to adopt rules establishing the Oregon Foster Children's Bill of Rights and to periodically review the rules to ensure compliance with principles and requirements of state law. The Oregon Foster Children's Bill of Rights was enacted by the legislature in 2013 through Senate Bill 123. In 2017, the Legislative Assembly passed House Bill 2216 which directed DHS to adopt rules establishing the Oregon Foster Children's Sibling Bill of Rights to further establish rights of siblings in foster care to maintain contact and be placed together when possible (ORS 418.606 to 418.608). DHS is required by law to implement and enforce these rights through administrative rulemaking, which may be reviewed periodically (ORS 418.202; ORS 418.608; OAR 413-010-0180 to 413-010-0185).

DHS's website contains information on the Oregon Foster Children's Bill of Rights and the Oregon Foster Children's Sibling Bill of Rights. Enforcement of these rights is a primary responsibility of the Children's Advocate, which is charged with reviewing complaints about DHS involvement in a child abuse investigation, as well as to coordinate with DHS and other entities to spread information about the detection and prevention of child abuse (ORS 417.815). The office of the Children's Advocate is currently housed in the Governor's Advocacy Office \(GAO\) within ODHS, having moved there in 1996 through an agreement with the Commission on Children and Families and formally by legislative action in 2003 (Department of Human Services, n.d.). GAO serves as the ombuds venue for responding to complaints about all ODHS programs and services. Senate Bill 123 \(2013\) established the Foster Care Ombuds position, housed within GAO, to enforce the Foster Children's Bill of Rights. According to the GAO 2024 annual report, cases involving child welfare complaints were the most frequent category of cases handled by GAO.
