BACKGROUND:

An agency must give notice of intent to adopt, amend, or repeal an administrative rule. The agency's notice of rulemaking must be:

- sent by e-mail to specified lawmakers at least 49 days before the effective date;
- sent to interested individuals at least 28 days before the effective date; and
- published in the Oregon Bulletin at least 21 days before the effective date of the rule.

The Oregon Bulletin is a monthly online publication of the Oregon State Archives, a division of the Oregon Secretary of State's (SOS) office. It contains Notices of Proposed Rulemaking and Permanent and Temporary Administrative Rule filings, along with rule text. The SOS now maintains the Oregon Administrative Rules Database containing all the administrative rules and filings and allowing a search by chapter or rule number.

The Oregon transparency website was created in 2009 as a single online location to allow any person to view information that is a public record and not exempt from disclosure, including agency reports and links to existing information. In 2013, the Legislative Assembly added the requirement that a link be added to the SOS website for rules adopted by state agencies and that links be added for agency webpages where information related to the rules of the agency are posted.
