BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Statewide Communication Interoperability Plan (OSCIP) is a multi-jurisdictional and multidisciplinary statewide plan to enhance emergency communications. A statewide communication operability plan is required by the United States Department of Homeland Security for grant funding and can often be required by other agencies as well.

The State Interoperability Executive Council (SIEC) is the statewide interoperability governing body which serves as the primary steering group for the OSCIP, with its duties laid out in Chapter 403.455 of the Oregon Revised Statutes. The SIEC is to annually update and monitor implementation of the OSCIP, with the goal of achieving statewide interoperability of public safety communications systems.

Both the OSCIP and SIEC are currently under the jurisdiction of the State Chief Information Officer and are housed in Enterprise Information Services.
