EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

The amendment adds five additional members to the task force and inserts consultation requirements to the task force's responsibility for studying electronic health records.

BACKGROUND:

Oregon schools provide a variety of health-related services to students. Some students with disabilities receive treatment from physical therapists, occupational therapists, or school psychologists. According to a report by the Oregon Health Authority \(OHA\), in 2024, Oregon had 85 state-certified school-based health centers providing health services to students. OHA administers the certification program for SBHCs as well as the School Based Health Services Medicaid program. The Oregon Department of Education (ODE), in partnership with OHA, support school districts' efforts to bill Medicaid for eligible students and services.

In 2023, the legislature enacted House Bill 2618, which required ODE to establish a metric by which schools could measure the workload of school health professionals. ODE's report studied the work of school health professionals and recommended use of North Carolina's metric.
