ISSUES DISCUSSED:

- Existing alternative redemption system operating in Portland, Oregon
- Impacts of establishing low-impact convenience zones
- Adjustment in hours of operation
- Evolution of the Bottle Bill

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

The amendment replaces the measure.

BACKGROUND:

The original Bottle Bill legislation was enacted in 1971 through House Bill 1036, and it is the nation's longest-standing beverage container deposit law. Since its passage, nine other states have enacted similar programs. Since enactment, the Bottle Bill has undergone multiple updates and changes. Legislation enacted in 2013 authorized a redemption center program to improve customer convenience and reduce the burden on retailers to accept and process empty containers, known as "BottleDrop." In addition, the Legislative Assembly expanded coverage to include additional containers and, in 2017, increased the deposit from five to 10 cents. Under the current law, people pay a 10-cent container deposit when they buy beverage containers three liters or less in size, except distilled liquor, wine (with exception of wine in cans, which will be included in the Bottle Bill July 1, 2025), dairy or plant-based milk, and infant formula. Consumers can return the empty containers to dealers and BottleDrop and receive the 10-cent refund value for each container returned.
