BACKGROUND:

Curry County is located at the southwest corner of the State of Oregon, bordered by the Pacific Ocean to the west, the State of California to the south, Coos County to the north and Josephine County to the east. As of the 2020 census, the population was 23,446. Curry County consists of three incorporated cities: Port Orford, Gold Beach, and Brookings and several unincorporated communities, including Langlois, Carpenterville, Agness, Wedderburn, and Harbor. The Curry County Board of Commissioners is the governing body for all areas of the county outside the three incorporated cities.
