15 contumacious default in the payment of the costs may at any time petition the court for remission

10 defendant for remission of the payment of costs or of any unpaid portion of costs. [If it appears to 11 the satisfaction of the court that payment of the amount due will impose manifest hardship on the de-

24 “161.685. (1) When a defendant who has been sentenced or ordered to pay a fine, or to make 25 restitution, defaults on a payment or installment ordered by the court, the court on motion of the 26 district attorney or upon its own motion may require the defendant to show cause why the default 27 should not be treated as contempt of court, and may issue a show cause citation or a warrant of 28 arrest for the appearance of the defendant.

29 “(2) If the court finds that the default constitutes contempt, the court may impose one or more 30 of the sanctions authorized by ORS 33.105.

31 “(3) When a fine or an order of restitution is imposed on a corporation or unincorporated asso-
32 ciation, it is the duty of the person authorized to make disbursement from the assets of the corpo-
33 ration or association to pay the fine or make the restitution from those assets, and if that person 34 fails to do so, the court may hold that person in contempt.

35 “(4) Notwithstanding ORS 33.105, the term of confinement for contempt for nonpayment of fines 36 or failure to make restitution shall be set forth in the commitment order, and shall not exceed one 37 day for each $25 of the fine or restitution, 30 days if the fine or order of restitution was imposed 38 upon conviction of a violation or misdemeanor, or one year in any other case, whichever is the 39 shorter period.

40 “(5)(a) If it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the default in the payment of [a fine
41 or] restitution is not contempt, the court may enter an order allowing the defendant additional time
42 for payment, reducing the amount of the payment or installments due on the payment, or revoking 43 the [fine or] order of restitution in whole or in part.

44 “(b) A defendant who has been sentenced to pay a fine and who is not in contumacious 45 default in the payment of the fine may at any time petition the court that sentenced the

1 defendant for remission of the payment of the fine or of any unpaid portion of the fine. Upon 2 receiving a petition described in this paragraph, the court shall proceed under section 1 of 3 this 2025 Act.

4 “(6) A default in the payment of a fine or costs or failure to make restitution or a default on 5 an installment on a fine, costs or restitution may be collected by any means authorized by law for 6 the enforcement of a judgment. The levy of execution or garnishment for the collection of a fine or 7 restitution shall not discharge a defendant confined for contempt until the amount of the fine or 8 restitution has actually been collected.

9 “(7) The court, or the court clerk if ordered by the court, may report a default on a court-10 ordered payment to a consumer reporting agency.

11 “(8) The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall adopt rules under ORS 1.002 establishing 22 structive.

23 “(11) As used in this section:

24 “(a) ‘Consumer reporting agency’ means any person that regularly engages for fees, dues, or on 25 a nonprofit basis, in whole or in part, in the practice of assembling or evaluating consumer credit 26 information or other information on consumers for the purpose of furnishing consumer reports to 27 third parties.

28 “(b) ‘Restitution’ has the meaning given that term in ORS 137.103.”.
