

Submitter: Ronald Meyers

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Climate, Energy, and Environment

Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB3119

While EV trucks may be possible in distant future, the technology just is not here to ban diesel trucks. The power grid can't support such a fleet, battery technology needs to be improved significantly, and fire danger for that size of battery must all be considered. We need to stop following California's example and consider the massive rural areas in Eastern Oregon where range will become a huge issue. Thank you for your time and consider the consequences of a diesel ban at this time.